

LOOKING FOR SUPPORT?

Resources for patients following brain injury or stroke

There is a service in Iowa that can help!

Neuro-Resource Facilitation is a free service through the Brain Injury Alliance of Iowa that helps people with brain injury find information about the services and support they will need going forward.

Neuro-Resource Facilitation can:

- Assist in locating options for providers and other resources
- Provide guidance on the options for types of services available
- Assist with understanding funding and program eligibility
- Provide information about support groups and other family supports

Additional Assistance Includes:

- Navigating local, state and federal service systems
- Information and education about what to expect after a brain injury
- Help with advocating for your rights
- Free information webinars

How to get started (it's easy):

- Call toll-free 1-855-444-6443 or email info@biaia.org
- A friendly neuro-resource facilitator will answer your call or respond to your email promptly
- Your facilitator can make phone calls with you to make sure you get the assistance you need
- BIA staff will provide regular follow-up calls and assistance whenever you need help
- Visit <http://www.biaia.org/support.htm#Tote> to download information resources
