Health Equity at IDPH and DHS

Health Equity Guiding Principle

We promote health for all by working to reduce health disparities and focusing on health where people live, learn, work and play.

Health Equity Vision

Building Health Equity for All Communities
What is health equity?

Health equity is the attainment of the highest possible level of health for all people. It means achieving the environmental, social, economic, and other conditions in which all people have the opportunity to attain their highest possible level of health.

IDPH definition

Health equity means that everyone has a fair and just opportunity to be as healthy as possible. This requires removing obstacles to health such as poverty, discrimination, and their consequences, including powerlessness and lack of access to good jobs with fair pay, quality education and housing, safe environments, and health care.

RWJ definition
Health Equity

Health equity means reducing and ultimately eliminating disparities in health and its determinants that adversely affect excluded or marginalized groups.

(Robert Wood Johnson Foundation)
Equity is not the same as equality.

To equalize opportunities, those with worse health and fewer resources need more efforts and opportunities to improve their health.

THE 10 ESSENTIAL PUBLIC HEALTH SERVICES

To protect and promote the health of all people in all communities

The 10 Essential Public Health Services provide a framework for public health to protect and promote the health of all people in all communities. To achieve optimal health for all, the Essential Public Health Services actively promote policies, systems, and services that enable good health and seek to remove obstacles and systemic and structural barriers, such as poverty, racism, gender discrimination, and other forms of oppression, that have resulted in health inequities. Everyone should have a fair and just opportunity to achieve good health and well-being.
